Energy Transfer/Sunoco Foundation Supports North Texas Food Bank to Reduce Food Insecurity

The $100,000 donation will provide 300,000 meals to North Texas Residents

DALLAS (January 13, 2022) – The North Texas Food Bank (NTFB) announced that the Energy Transfer/Sunoco Foundation has donated $100,000 which will provide 300,000 meals to North Texas residents experiencing hunger. The gift is part of a sponsorship that features the Energy Transfer and Sunoco logos on two co-branded NTFB trucks that deliver food in the food bank’s 10,000 square mile service area.

“We are thankful for corporate partners like the Energy Transfer/Sunoco Foundation that are bridging the gap between hunger and help in North Texas,” said Trisha Cunningham, North Texas Food Bank president and CEO. “This gift addresses the significant hunger needs in our community, including the 1 in 5 children who are facing food insecurity. We are deeply grateful for Energy Transfer’s trust and will use these funds to advance our mission of a hunger-free and healthy North Texas.”

The North Texas Food Bank service area has the fourth-highest level of food-insecure children in the country. Through the Food 4 Kids, School Pantry, and Summer programs, the food bank works with schools and social service organizations in 13 counties to distribute and serve nutritious foods to kids in need throughout the school year and the summer months. To ensure year-round food assistance for students and families, these programs work with educators to identify chronically hungry kids and students who qualify for free and reduced meals to provide healthy, non-perishable items as well as fresh produce.

“We are proud to partner with the North Texas Food Bank to help address the critical issue of hunger in North Texas,” said Chris Curia, EVP and Chief Human Resource Officer for Energy Transfer. “Throughout our 25-year history, we have been committed to making a difference in the communities in which we live and work, and we know that these funds will go a long way in combating hunger for many North Texans.”

Energy Transfer has partnered with the North Texas Food Bank since 2011 and has provided nearly 1.7 million meals to hungry North Texans through its support.
